Competition Exercise

Begin the process of competing with yourself. Pick one item in your life that you would like to improve upon. It can be anything from learning how to cook a new dish to learning how to swim. It could be a personal development skill. Whatever you are interested in learning, choose the skill and investigate what is needed to learn the skill. What skills and abilities would you want to learn? It can be something small or large. If it is a small item, practice it for the time period you need to master the skill.

A skill in my life that I want to improve and develop is: _____

What is needed to learn this skill?

If it is a large item, break it down to simple steps that you can achieve each step one at a time over a longer time period. Once I mastered one set of characters, I would start on another set and master them before moving to the next set.

For complex skills, break it down into simple steps. The simple steps to develop my chosen skill are:
